Product Description:

UNO is the most unique product you will ever use. It is great for detailers and body shops to create the ultimate finish with ease.

UNO does not contain silicones or waxes. It is a micro-fine polishing product that can easily remove 1500 sanding scratches when using a wool pad. But, when using a polishing foam pad, UNO will create a flawless, show car finish.

UNO contains a unique blend of abrasives unlike any used in the auto care industry. This makes it the only product a body shop needs to create a show car finish in 1/2 the time.

To remove 1500 sanding scratches, use UNO with a wool buffing pad. This combination will easily remove the sanding scratches and not just hide them like many other products.

Then, use UNO with a finishing foam pad. This combination will remove any swirls created by the wool pad and create a flawless, deep finish.

For detailers, UNO is the only product you need for paint correction. Use a wool pad for heavy cut, a medium foam pad for paint correction and a polishing foam pad for final polishing. UNO is the one product that does it all.
